CH The elastic band 24 has at its outer end a snap-fastener component 26 engageable with a cooperating component 28, one component being male and the other female. The components cooperate to effect the wrapping and securing of the pads together. Alternatively, hook and loop fastener elastic band component 25 (Figure 9) may engage end portions of the shield pads, and cooperate with hook and loop fasteners on the strap and on the shield pads. Rolled-up pads are thus secured together by the elastic band, thus to provide ease of handling, maneuvering and rolling up of the shield pads.
